What we are working on

The goal for this week is to deploy a landing page for the project. To reach that goal we are also working on individual HTML files to make their purpose simpler to create and run. We are also revising and improving our Design document. Then finally finishing the API and developer tools.

What has been done

Javascript files for all the classes have been initialized. A template for payload from our database has been established. Our API is capable of serving the landing page and developer tools. The developer tools will allow us to easily generate database entries for testing.
