Team Retrospective

Date: 11/28/2021

Finding the time to go over code helped us to better understand how the project works and what could be changed for the better. Doing a step by step install of programs we use for coding and testing really helped us all get on the same page. The project kanban board also helps us to stay organized and track issues to help us stay on schedule.

The front end has been deployed, and the database is soon to follow. Once those two parts of the app can talk to each other, the other pieces should start falling nicely into place.

We could work on our communication in our channels and better define all our expectations.
